'Hello, Dolly' This Week

It's coming. And it promises to be three delightful, fun-filled evenings of pure romance, and a little nostalgia too. April 6-8, the Music and Drama Departments at Old Rochester Regional High School are offering one of Broadway's all-time smash hits, "Hello, Dolly". Playing Dolly is C. C. Dyer of Marion. Opposite her is Richard Helfand of Mattapoisett as Horace Vandergelder.

For C. C., a 10th grader with personality plus, playing Dolly is her first stage appearance. Helfand, a talented senior, has been in a number of ORR productions, both musical and dramatic. Only last fall, he starred as Sheridan Whiteside in "The Man Who Came to Dinner". Also in key roles

PUNCH AND JUDY - A SHOW FOR CHILDREN BY CHILDREN

A cast of talented students of the third grade of the Mattapoisett Center School, with the sponsorship of the Mattapoisett Historical Society, will present several performances of the traditional and delightful "Punch and Judy Theater" during the week of April 10th at the Museum on Church Street for the enjoyment of area residents. Miss Katherine Aurich, Acting Principal of the school, announced that this very special program is being arranged and directed by Luice McCormack with a cast of gifted grammar school students.

in England, in the 1660's, it is a little known fact that Punch actually originated in Italy's early 17th century, and that "Punch" is an anglicization of Punchinello.

The Mattapoisett Historical Society is more fortunate in its possession of a complete, beautifully crafted "Punch and Judy" collection. The thirteen puppets are meticulously hand-carved and hand-painted, with costumes mostly original, or scrupulously renovated. These marvelous puppets have a fascinating history. They were selected and purchased in England in 1900 by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin of Ned's Point Road, as a gift to their daughter Anna, who decided to share her unique gift with the townspeople of Mattapoisett. Anna staged many Punch and Judy shows during those years prior to World War I, most especially on behalf of the Mattapoisett Improvement Association, on the Library lawn.

Anna's beloved puppets were eventually willed to Mrs. Katherine Frizzell of Water Street who presented them to the Historical Society.

The eight and nine year olds who will again bring these puppets to light are: Patrick Sylvia, Andrew Taylor, Punch; Mary Lewis, Sydney Bookstein, Judy; Stephen Mendell, baby; Jimmy Lanagan, policeman; Neal Sanford, Toby, David Barr, crocodile; Greg Chapoorian, Todd Kyle, doctor; Chris Gaudiello, Kenneth Fey, Joey, the Clown; Tony Hilligoss, warden; Andy Knight, Ronnie Lopes, Ketch, the Hangman. Puppeteers are: Rodney Morris, Hanne Holst, Bernard

You wouldn't borrow money from a friend, but you'd borrow from a bank. Does that mean we aren't your friend?

It's a funny position to be in. People tell you never to borrow from a friend—and we agree. Then you come to a bank to borrow money—as you should. A friend or not a friend? That's quite a question. Well, at Plymouth-Home we see the answer as both "yes" and "no".

We're very happy to be your friend—in a business sort of way. Because we feel you want us to treat your money matters in a professional and business-like manner.

Borrowing or lending money requires mutual trust and respect. It demands competent, confidential treatment of an intimate personal need. Sure, some of you in the communities we serve throughout Plymouth County know people at our bank as true friends, and that's good. They know you and you know them. That's a good start for any business dealing.

In any case, whether you're a long standing friend or a first time visitor, you receive the same trust and respect just because you're you. And that's pretty important. In a business sort of friendship you should expect and receive more than a handshake, you should profit from the experience and knowledge of how money can work for you. The loan is yours and you have to live with it so we'll help you plan everything from days to dollars so that it fits your budget.

You couldn't ask any more of your best friend.

Bank where it counts.

Mark Your Belongings!

OPERATION IDENTIFICATION IS WORKING

Mattapoisett residents have been taking advantage of the opportunity to help the police protect their belongings. Those who have not joined the operation identification program yet may do so by picking up the stencil pen at the Mattapoisett Police Station. There are enough instruments available so that they are readily available for the asking. After your driver's license number has been stenciled on your valuables a decal for your door will advise the potential thief to go elsewhere. This program is a deterrent to crime. New Bedford theft has dropped noticeably since the "Operation Identification" program was introduced in that city. In a two-pronged attack against crime, the program first is a deterrent, and, secondly, provides identification if the property is stolen. Since a burglar caught with stenciled goods can be readily connected with the break, they avoid marked items. These marked items are also hard to sell. In short, if you want to give the thief an engraved in-

BICYCLE PATH PROPOSAL

Bruce E. Rocha, president of the Mattapoisett Lions Club, and Attorney Raymond C. Lantz, Jr., a member of the Lions Club, met with the Mattapoisett Selectmen Tuesday evening, March 28th, to present a proposal for a bicycle path in Mattapoisett.

The proposed bicycle path would be jointly sponsored by the Lions Club and the Mattapoisett Selectmen, and would follow the path of the old railroad right-of-way, to connect Depot Street with Mattapoisett Neck Road and probably with Brandt Island Road.

The Leo Club of Mattapoisett has asked Mattapoisett Selectmen for suggestions of community projects that could be undertaken by the Club. The Board of Selectmen

Mrs. Lynne Fink, Southeast Area Director of the Diet Workshop, Inc., will be the guest speaker Wednesday April 12th at the New Bedford YWCA's Weekly Luncheon at 12:15 P.M. The public is invited to hear Mrs. Fink tell about the Open House at the YWCA of the Diet Workshop in the city on April 24 and 27.

Diet Workshop offers the group approach to losing weight combined with a medically sound diet program (the consultant is Dr. Morton B. Glenn of New York, past president of the American College of Nutrition). No gimmicks, pills or drugs of any kind are tolerated as the aim is to re-educate people into eating three well-balanced meals and snacks a day while losing weight.

A Diet Workshop graduate has a master's degree in how to stay slim, not by mastering appetite, but by mastering the principles of good eating and gourmet cooking with stay-thin weight-reducing foods.

Diet Workshop instructors teach the attitudes and demonstrate the skills needed to keep, as well as take, weight off, with a realistic approach to obesity. Students in the program eat well and often, but, because they are being re-educated, they eat and grow slim. Education, not star-

'The Iconoclast'

STUDENT NEWSPAPER WEARING NEW LOOK

The student newspaper at Old Rochester Regional High School is wearing an imaginative new spring look and has a new editorial policy to match. Even its name has been changed. Gone is the old Bulldog Barker and in its place the editors have published the first edition of the Iconoclast, a paper dedicated to reporting "more relevant events and ideas that concern students," and to printing "more meaningful, well thought out editorials". Additionally, the Ikon, as it is called for short, is to be available without charge.

The first issue features an article called "Justice in America", basically a series of arguments for repairing and reorganizing our judicial and penal systems. Following it is an editorial calling, first, for the abolition of the school's pass system, and, then, the requirements and grading system associated with the school's Phys Ed program.

Also a part of the first issues is a very provocative poem entitled "Flag", two musical review -- one of Jesus Christ, Superstar, and the other of the current rock musical hit Godspell, which the reviewer feels "doesn't just excite you", but "drive you crazy with joy, vibrating and shaking you up into a frenzy of love". The Ikon's other pages are used to promote a movie night at the school, the Ski Club, and the Distributive Ed's upcoming motorcycle show, April 20, 21 and 22.
